THE BEACON

PRACTICE NEWS BULLETIN OF THE PG STUDENTS OF JOURNALISM AND MASS COMMUNICATION

Wednesday, 22 June 2022 / St. Joseph's College (Autonomous) / Vol: 15 Issue: 131 / www.sjcdeptcomm.wordpress.com

RNFF all set to begin today after a gap of two years Afreen Hussain

CAMPUS: The Institute of Communication and Media Studies (ICMS) is back with the 4th edition of the Rushes National Film Festival 2022 (RNFF 2022), organised by the students of B.Voc (Film : making). The event promises : an exciting amalgamation of : learning and expression for : aspiring filmmakers.

RNFF 2022 will be held : on 22 June in the main auditorium of St. Joseph's College. "This edition will witness the presence of renowned industry experts and cinematographers such : as Adwait Gurumurthy and : Mayuraa Raghuvendra, who: have contributed immensely: the Kannada film: to industry. Another prominent : personality arriving from : Kolkata is Ranjan Palit. He has for over 20 years now and has worked in films like 7 Khoon Maaf. He has worked with Indian film directors like Vishal Bhardwaj and Dibakar Banerjee," said Sreemoyee Singh, Assistant Professor and co-ordinator of the event.

She further added that she : is looking forward to the : infrastructure geared towards master class conducted by : Ranjan Palit from 2:30 pm to : 4:30 pm on cinematography in fictional and non-fictional The fans who came to witness films.

Vishal Kumar, a firstyear B.Voc student and coordinator, added, "RNFF roof at the Chinnaswamy includes a competitive film screening event from 12 pm : simultaneously."

Hooligans in uniform unleash brutality Is administrative fascism becoming the new normal?

Earlier this month, statements made by the Bharatiya Janata Party spokesperson Nupur Sharma against the Prophet whipped up religious tensions across the country. Ranchi, the capital city of Jharkhand, was one place that saw this turmoil turn into violent communal strife between communities due to which the city was placed under strict police surveillance.

Unfortunately, for the people of Ranchi, the police raj turned out to be the biggest nightmare as the people deployed to protect them against the violence were the ones who incited it. As a result the police opened fire on the people. The deputy commissioner justified the firing and said this was the only way to control the mob. A 15-year-old boy was one been making documentaries among the many casualties of this crossfire, who died due to the injuries on the same night. It has now been over 10 days since the incident occurred, and the police are yet to register an FIR on the complaint filed by the boy's family demanding a probe against the officer who shot him. Rather, an FIR has been filed against the family by the policeman who allegedly opened fire on the boy. This move by the police and the government only proves that they care about protecting their administration and favouring the "law enforcers" instead of protecting innocent citizens who are victimised by arbitrary action of the state.

Screen grab of the viral video

In the last few years, especially during the tenure of the current ruling government, this hasn't been an isolated incident of police brutality. Instead, people belonging to the minority communities like Muslims, along with Dalits have often fallen prey to this gruesome act by the ones in power. Recently, a video where a cop was beating up nine men inside a police station in Uttar

OutlookIndia.com

Pradesh went viral on social media platforms - the Ranchi incident followed less than a week later. Multiple Twitter accounts handled by both the BJP IT cell and its leaders have gone out on a limb to support these actions, one even retweeting the video with the caption "return gift for rioters."

Do the people who want to question their government and exercise their rights, succumb to the threat of reprisal by the powers that be?

Or will the government finally hold these powerhungry monsters, we call leaders and law enforcers, accountable for their actions and ensure safety measures for all its citizens, irrespective of where they fall in this power structure?

Pavana J

I funds gushes through the roof B

Joel P Anto

BENGALURU: A week after the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) President Sourav Ganguly assured the development of a better fan experience, it turned out to be a pie in the sky.

the final T20 match against South Africa on Sunday were dismayed to find a leaking Stadium. Despite the fans being assured of a better to 1:30 pm at the auditorium : match and infrastructure and the DeNobili hall : experience, the audience had disappointment in store.

A leak in the roof at the stadium

Speaking to The Beacon, Srinivas Ramamohan, a cricket enthusiast at the stadium said, "The issue is that BCCI is overly focused on broadcast revenues and the TV viewing audience as it fetches ad revenue.

Special Arrangement So, they take the fans who come to stadiums for granted. Furthermore, the State Associations have no incentive to do anything for People who are passionate about the sport came to see the spectators."

their favourite stars, with ticket prices ranging from Rs.2000 to Rs.6000 for even the most unfavourable seats, knowing that refunds are YOGA unlikely after the first ball is bowled.

"I've been going to the stadium for decades, and there hasn't been much progress. The leaking roofs are believe it is an essential obviously unacceptable; but other conditions such as the type of food given, the level of hygiene maintained, the : and body.

'Bringing an absolute brilliance to the world' through the power of

Subadra Sarath

BENGALURU: On the occasion of International Yoga Day, practitioners exercise in bringing a sense of stability and unity between countries, as well as the mind bathrooms, and the absence of Speaking to The Beacon, access to essential amenities Adarsh Mandanna, a yoga like water and garbage cans : trainer at Cult Fit said, "It is are all unjustifiable," he a misconception that yoga added. works only on the body, because it's not just an exercise, it's a way of life. It teaches about a lot of things like 'ahimsa' and 'sathya'. And government's name so that they could make more money. if the whole world practices He said there was a heavy it the right way, it can bring demand for land at the time absolute brilliance to the world." due to the IT boom. Another protester said, "All thanks to Yoga, according to Yogic their greed, they are doing texts, leads to the union of all this and torturing us poor individual consciousness people." with that of the universal consciousness, "For many years, MLA implying Aravind Limbavali complete harmony between has the mind and body as well as, been telling us that if my government comes, we can between man and nature. do something. Today, they are "If you're looking for ways in power both in the centre to understand life, spirituality and the state, but still, nothing and evolution, then yoga is has been done," Muniraj said. • the best way." he added.

Dispute among the govt departments, Dalit residents demand title

Saishyam Srikanth

BENGALURU: On March 23rd, the Dalit residents of the Kadugodi Plantation area in Dinnur began a protest demanding documents for the land they have been inhabiting for more than 70 years. Ninety-one days have passed since then, and the protestors say they will continue the agitation till all their demands are met.

The dispute began after India attained independence when the Dalits freed from shackles of the bonded labour were given land by the government to live with dignity and earn a livelihood from agriculture. Before this land was allotted to Dalits, it was classified as forest land.

United in the fight against injustice

Until the 1990s, the residents faced no problems and were issued documents from revenue the department conferring the ownership status. This time around, the forest department went to court to claim that the land was theirs and that the residents settled illegally. One of the protesters, Muniraj said, "On multiple occasions, the courts at all levels have said that the land does not belong to the forest department and that after independence, the land belongs to the people in the area." Muniraj said that the crisis precipitated as certain forest department and revenue department officials got together in the 1990s to register the land in the

Editors: Gautam Nagar & Sanjana Anand | Sub-Editor: Pushparaj C | Reporters: Afreen Hussain, Subadra Sarath, Joel P Anto, Pavana J, Saishyam Srikanth If anyone has any feedback / complaints, reports / photographs or conducting events, please email us at : beacon@sjc.ac.in